

Algoriddim Brings Spotify Integration to djay on Mac and Windows

- Spotify Premium users can now access and mix Spotify's entire music catalog directly within djay on Mac and Windows, including their own playlists and Spotify's editorial playlists.
- djay's Automix feature intelligently transitions between tracks, letting users enjoy continuous mixes of their favorite Spotify playlists.

MUNICH, Germany – September 24, 2025 – Algoriddim, the award-winning creator of djay, today announced Spotify integration in djay for Mac and Windows. This update gives hobbyist DJs and music fans instant access to their entire Spotify library and playlists, along with Spotify's editorial selections, directly within the popular desktop versions of djay.

With just a login, Spotify Premium subscribers can instantly browse and mix millions of songs through djay. From curating the perfect home party set to exploring new music, users can effortlessly drag and drop tracks into djay's decks, create seamless transitions across genres with intelligent beat-matching, play using built-in DJ tools, or connect their favorite DJ hardware for tactile control.

For those who simply want to sit back and listen, djay's Automix feature takes over, blending songs from Spotify playlists into continuous DJ-style mixes with beat-matched transitions.

"Bringing Spotify into djay marks a major milestone in our mission to make DJing accessible to everyone," said Karim Morsy, CEO of Algoriddim. "Whether you're a beginner experimenting at home using only your laptop, or a seasoned DJ performing with hardware, you can now tap into Spotify's massive catalog directly in djay and enjoy the music you love in a whole new way."

Key djay features include:

- Beginner-friendly interface designed for instant fun.
- Automix for continuous mixes of Spotify playlists.
- Intelligent beat-matching for smooth transitions across genres.
- A full suite of DJ tools, loops, and effects.
- Seamless hardware support, with over 100 DJ controllers supported plug-and-play.

Spotify integration in djay is now available in 51 markets worldwide.
